

CONTENTS

Foreword by Eric Holt-Giménez . . . . .	ix
Introduction . . . . .	1
Map of Honduras . . . . .	13
PART 1: From Bananas to Palm Oil . . . . .	14
1. The Aguán Valley: Land for the People . . . . .	16
2. The Decline of Agriculture and the Rise of the Maquila . . . . .	22
3. Grabbing Land and Power: The New Agro-Oligarchs . . . . .	28
4. Militarization and the War on Drugs: Security for Whom? . . . . .	37
5. The War on Peasants . . . . .	42
PART 2. Palm Oil and the Corporate Food Regime . . . . .	46
6. The Making of a “Food-Like Substance” . . . . .	48
7. Subsidizing Corporate Expansion. . . . .	54
8. Free Trade and Fast Food. . . . .	58
9. Greening the Regime, Part 1: Fueling the “Green” Economy . . . . .	64
10. Greening the Regime, Part 2: Ecotourism or Eco-colonialism? . . . . .	74
PART 3. The New Aguán Movements: Land, Resistance and Food Sovereignty . . . . .	86
11. The New Cycle of Struggle: A Sketch of Two Aguán Movements . . . . .	90
12. Resisting Fragmentation, Constructing Unity . . . . .	100
13. Peasant-Controlled Palm Oil: The Case of Salamá . . . . .	106
14. From Palm Oil to Food Sovereignty. . . . .	113
15. Conclusion. . . . .	121

Appendix: Declaration of the International Human Rights Observatory of Aguán . . . . .	129
Stay Informed & Get Involved. . . . .	133
Acronyms. . . . .	135
Notes. . . . .	137
References . . . . .	149
Index . . . . .	167
Box 1. Women Maquila Workers Resist . . . . .	.25
Box 2. Hurricane Mitch: Disaster Capitalism and Grassroots Alternatives . . . . .	.34
Box 3. The Oleochemicals Industry . . . . .	.50
Box 4. USAID’s “Feed the Future” Initiative . . . . .	.61
Box 5. The Roundtable on Sustainable Palm Oil (by Annie Shattuck) . . . . .	.71
Box 6. Honduras’ Charter City: An Assault on Sovereignty . . . . .	.81
Box 7. History of Land Deals at Former CREM Site . . . . .	.93
Box 8. The FNRP: Roots and Evolution of a Social Movement (by Tyler Shipley) . . . . .	.97
Box 9. Plantation Workers Speak Out . . . . .	.108
Box 10. North-South Solidarity and Activist Research . . . . .	.123
Chart 1. Palm Oil Imports . . . . .	.51
Chart 2. Installed Capacity to Produce Biodiesel. . . . .	.66